SIGNIFICANT INDUSTRIES

A Report to the Workforce Development System

Mohawk Valley

2019

Preface

One of the major objectives of the workforce development system is to encourage local workforce development boards (LWDBs) to plan strategically and focus their resources in priority industries (and eventually on priority occupations within those industries).

To assist in these efforts, the New York State Department of Labor Division of Research and Statistics developed these reports to identify “significant industries” in each of the ten regions in New York State. Industries presented here are classified according to their North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) code.

This report lists significant industries in the Mohawk Valley based on several factors including employment levels, wage levels, job growth (both net and percent) over the 2013-2018 period and expected job growth based on industry employment projections through 2026. Priority industries that may have been designated by economic development or workforce development officials were also considered. The local workforce development boards in the region should focus their workforce development resources on these industries.

Regional Industries

A broad set of 11 industries are designated as “significant” in the Mohawk Valley. They fall into six major industry groups: construction; manufacturing; trade, transportation and utilities; educational services; health care; and leisure and hospitality.

All significant industries shared one or more of the following characteristics: rapid growth (percentage basis); large growth (absolute basis); high wages (average annual wage above the regional average of $42,500 in 2018); or strong expected growth through 2026.

Industry Analysis

In the following analysis, industries are presented in ascending NAICS industry code order. For additional information regarding the NAICS industry classification system, visit <https://www.census.gov/cgi-bin/sssd/naics/naicsrch?chart=2017>.

Construction

Skilled trades occupations comprise much of the employment within the specialty trade contractors (NAICS Industry 238) industry. Since this industry is sensitive to economic fluctuations, employment increased as the overall economic conditions in the Mohawk Valley improved between 2013 and 2018. Average annual wages in the specialty trade contractors industry ($50,700) exceeded the regional all industry average ($42,500) in 2018.

In the specialty trade contractors industry, the five most common occupations are electricians; plumbers, pipefitters and steamfitters; construction laborers; carpenters; heating, air conditioning and refrigeration mechanics and installers.

Over the next decade, the impending retirement of many baby boomers will contribute to job opportunities in this industry, especially among the skilled trades.

Manufacturing

Food manufacturing (NAICS Industry 311) and primary metal manufacturing (NAICS Industry 331) are the only manufacturing industries on the list. Employment in both industries grew at a faster pace than employment in the entire region (2.0%) between 2013 and 2018 with food manufacturing growing 13.0% and primary metal manufacturing growing 22.7%. Goods-producing industries tend to pay higher wages and both food manufacturing ($47,900) and primary metal manufacturing ($61,600) had higher average wages in 2018 than the regional all industry average ($42,500).

Trade, Transportation and Utilities

Warehousing and storage (NAICS Industry 493) has been a bright spot in the Mohawk Valley. Employment in the industry grew by 800, or 22.9%, since 2013. The construction of two new distribution centers is expected to bring an additional 700 jobs to the region. Average annual wages in warehousing and storage ($42,900) were slightly higher than the regional average in 2018, and the industry is projected to grow much faster (+19.1%) than the regional all industry average (+8.0%) from 2016 to 2026. Many workers previously dislocated from the manufacturing sector found employment in this industry.

Educational Services

With 22,700 jobs (public and private sector), educational services (NAICS Industry 611) employs the largest number of people of all the significant industries identified in the Mohawk Valley. This sector's large size, high average wage ($46,700) and modest job growth (+2.7%) landed the industry on this list.

Growth in educational services is driven more by demographics than by economic conditions. This sector is projected to continue to grow between 2016 and 2026, albeit at a slower pace (+7.1%) than the region's all industry average (+8.0%).

Health Care and Social Assistance

Growth in health care and social assistance employment is driven more by demographics than by overall economic conditions. Almost all health care and social assistance occupations are expected to be in demand over the next decade as the Mohawk Valley's population continues to age. Four significant industries within the health care and social assistance sector include:

- Ambulatory health care services (NAICS Industry 621)
- Hospitals (NAICS Industry 622)
- Nursing and residential care facilities (NAICS Industry 623)
- Social assistance (NAICS Industry 624)

Of these industries, social assistance added the most jobs in terms of absolute numbers and percentage basis between 2013 and 2018. Over this time, employment in social assistance increased by 2,700, or 32.9%. Ambulatory health care services also added jobs (+600), while employment in hospitals (-300) and nursing and residential care facilities (-600) declined. These four industries combined represent 11.9% of total all industry employment in the Mohawk Valley.

Ambulatory health care services (+35.7%), social assistance (+29.9%) and nursing and residential care facilities (+13.4%) are all projected to grow at a faster rate between 2016 and 2026 than the region's all industry projected growth rate (+8.0%).

Nursing and residential care facilities ($34,200) and social assistance ($24,600) had average annual wages below the regional all industry average. The average annual wages in ambulatory health care services ($51,900) and hospitals ($63,900) in 2018 were much higher than the regional all industry average ($42,500). This is largely a reflection of the mix of occupations within each industry; for example, in nursing and residential care facilities, the two most common occupations, nursing assistants and personal care aides, are relatively low-paying.

Leisure and Hospitality

Accommodation (NAICS Industry 721) and food services and drinking places (NAICS Industry 722) are growing industries that employ a significant number of workers in the Mohawk Valley. Food services and drinking places employs the second largest number of people among the region's significant industries. Average annual wages were below the regional average in both industries with accommodation ($33,500) paying better than food services and drinking places ($17,800). The lower wages can be attributed, in part, to the fact that both industries are characterized by seasonal and part-time workers. The food services and drinking places industry provides many employment opportunities for low-skilled workers and youth, especially in the summer, as well as second-job holders.

The Mohawk Valley has been called the 'Gateway to the Adirondacks' and benefited from increased travel and tourism activity which has positively impacted the leisure and hospitality sector. The latest available figures from the I Love New York program show that in 2017 the region received more than 14.6 million tourists who spent nearly $2 billion.

For Further Information

We hope that the statewide and local workforce development boards find the information presented in this report useful. The New York State Department of Labor's Mohawk Valley regional labor market analyst, Brion Acton, is available for consultation. *Key:

G: Industry experienced notable job growth; can be net or percentage growth

J: Industry employs a significant number of jobs (>2,500)

P: Above-average growth projected for 2016-2026

W: Industry pays above-average wages

Specialty Trade Contractors
(NAICS Industry 238)
Ten Most Common Occupations

Industry Description: The Specialty Trade Contractors subsector comprises establishments whose primary activity is performing specific activities (e.g., pouring concrete, site preparation, plumbing, painting, and electrical work) involved in building construction or other activities that are similar for all types of construction, but that are not responsible for the entire project. The work performed may include new work, additions, alterations, maintenance, and repairs. The production work performed by establishments in this subsector is usually subcontracted from establishments of the general contractor type or for-sale builders, but especially in remodeling and repair construction, work also may be done directly for the owner of the property. Specialty trade contractors usually perform most of their work at the construction site, although they may have shops where they perform prefabrication and other work. Establishments primarily engaged in preparing sites for new construction are also included in this subsector.

Food Manufacturing
(NAICS Industry 311)
Ten Most Common Occupations

Industry Description: Industries in the Food Manufacturing subsector transform livestock and agricultural products into products for intermediate or final consumption. The industry groups are distinguished by the raw materials (generally of animal or vegetable origin) processed into food products.

Primary Metal Manufacturing
(NAICS Industry 331)
Two Most Common Occupations

Industry Description: Industries in the Primary Metal Manufacturing subsector smelt and/or refine ferrous and nonferrous metals from ore, pig or scrap, using electrometallurgical and other process metallurgical techniques. Establishments in this subsector also manufacture metal alloys and superalloys by introducing other chemical elements to pure metals. The output of smelting and refining, usually in ingot form, is used in rolling, drawing, and extruding operations to make sheet, strip, bar, rod, or wire, and in molten form to make castings and other basic metal products.

Note: Due to confidentiality, only top 2 occupations are available for this industry.

Warehousing and Storage
(NAICS Industry 493)
Ten Most Common Occupations

Industry Description: Industries in the Warehousing and Storage subsector are primarily engaged in operating warehousing and storage facilities for general merchandise, refrigerated goods, and other warehouse products. These establishments provide facilities to store goods. They do not sell the goods they handle. These establishments take responsibility for storing the goods and keeping them secure. They may also provide a range of services, often referred to as logistics services, related to the distribution of goods. Logistics services can include labeling, breaking bulk, inventory control and management, light assembly, order entry and fulfillment, packaging, pick and pack, price marking and ticketing, and transportation arrangement. However, establishments in this industry group always provide warehousing or storage services in addition to any logistic services. Furthermore, the warehousing or storage of goods must be more than incidental to the performance of services, such as price marking.

Ambulatory Health Care Services
(NAICS Industry 621)
Ten Most Common Occupations

Industry Description: Industries in the Ambulatory Health Care Services subsector provide health care services directly or indirectly to ambulatory patients and do not usually provide inpatient services. Health practitioners in this subsector provide outpatient services, with the facilities and equipment not usually being the most significant part of the production process.

Hospitals
(NAICS Industry 622)
Ten Most Common Occupations

Industry Description: Industries in the Hospitals subsector provide medical, diagnostic, and treatment services that include physician, nursing, and other health services to inpatients and the specialized accommodation services required by inpatients. Hospitals may also provide outpatient services as a secondary activity. Establishments in the Hospitals subsector provide inpatient health services, many of which can only be provided using the specialized facilities and equipment that form a significant and integral part of the production process.

Nursing and Residential Care Facilities
(NAICS Industry 623)
Ten Most Common Occupations

Industry Description: Industries in the Nursing and Residential Care Facilities subsector provide residential care combined with either nursing, supervisory, or other types of care as required by the residents. In this subsector, the facilities are a significant part of the production process, and the care provided is a mix of health and social services with the health services being largely some level of nursing services.
